

Results of convertible bond call

March 24, 2006

Paris, March 24, 2006

On February 23, 2006, Technip announced the early redemption of all outstanding convertible/exchangeable bonds issued in January 2002. As of January 31, 2006, there were 3,579,811 bonds outstanding.

Bondholders overwhelmingly opted to convert/exchange their bonds into Technip shares: 3,577,782 bonds (99.94%) were converted into 14,311,128 Technip shares (of which 2,719,062 existing and 11,592,066 newly issued). The 2,029 bonds which were not converted/exchanged were redeemed for cash at EUR 187.06 per bond (accrued interest included).

As a result of these transactions:

- the net cash position of the Group has increased by about EUR 600 million,
- the estimated total outstanding Technip shares will be approximately 111.0 million at March 31, 2006 (compared to 98.9 million at December 31, 2005). On a fully diluted basis, the estimated total outstanding shares will be approximately 114.1 million at March 31, 2006 (compared to 115.3 million at December 31, 2005).

Cautionary note regarding forward-looking statements

This presentation contains both historical and forward-looking statements. All statements other than statements of historical fact are, or may be deemed to be, forward-looking statements, or statements of future expectations; within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 or Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, each as amended. These forward-looking statements are not based on historical facts, but rather reflect our current expectations concerning future results and events and generally may be identified by the use of forward-looking words such as "believe", "aim", "expect", "anticipate", "intend", "foresee", "likely", "should", "planned", "may", "estimates", "potential" or other similar words. Similarly, statements that describe our objectives, plans or goals are or may be forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that may cause our actual results, performance or achievements to differ materially from the anticipated results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements. Risks that could cause actual results to differ materially from the results anticipated in the forward-looking statements include, among other things: our ability to successfully continue to originate and execute large integrated services contracts, and construction and project risks generally; the level of production-related capital expenditure in the oil and gas industry as well as other industries; currency fluctuations; interest rate fluctuations; raw material, especially steel, price fluctuations; the timing of development of energy resources; armed conflict or political instability in the Arabic-Persian Gulf, Africa or other regions; the strength of competition; control of costs and expenses; the reduced availability of government-sponsored export financing; the timing and success of anticipated integration synergies; and the evolution, interpretation and uniform application and enforcement of International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), according to which we prepare our financial statements as from January 1, 2005.

Some of these risk factors are set forth and discussed in more detail in our Annual Report on Form 20-F as filed with the SEC on June 30, 2005, and as updated from time to time in our SEC filings. Should one of these known or unknown risks materialize, or should our underlying assumptions prove incorrect, our future results could be adversely affected, causing these results to differ materially from those expressed in our forward-looking statements. These factors are not necessarily all of the important factors that could cause our actual results to differ materially from those expressed in any of our forward-looking statements. Other unknown or unpredictable factors also could have material adverse effects on our future results. The forward-looking statements included in this release are made only as of the date of this release. We cannot assure you that projected results or events will be achieved. We do not intend, and do not assume any obligation to update any industry information or forward looking information set forth in this release to reflect subsequent events or circumstances. Except as otherwise indicated, the financial information contained in this document has been prepared in accordance with IFRS, and certain elements would differ materially upon reconciliation to U.S. GAAP.
